

little lamb theatre presents

The Balloon Tree

by Phoebe Gilman

Directed by Andrew Lamb

At The Palmerston Library Theatre
560 Palmerston Avenue (North of Bloor)

www.littlelambtheatre.com

Thursday July 6 @ 12:45pm, Friday July 7 @ 5:00pm
Saturday July 8 @ 4:00pm, Sunday July 9 @ 7:45pm
Monday July 10 @ 11:00am, Wednesday July 12 @ 7:45pm
Thursday July 13 @ 12:45pm, Sunday July 16 @ 3:30 pm

"A good fairy tale to get your children's imaginations going...filled with magic."
- kidsdomain.com -

Illustration from The Balloon Tree, copyright © 1984 by Phoebe Gilman. All rights reserved.

● THE BALLOON TREE adapted by Robert Watson from Phoebe Gilman, directed by Andrew Lamb. Presented by Little Lamb at Palmerston Library. July 13 at 12:45 pm, July 16 at 3:30 pm. Rating: NNNN

ROBERT WATSON'S WITTY ADAPTATION of Phoebe Gilman's children's book will entertain both kids and their parents.

The tale of a brave princess (Diana Tso) who bests her power-hungry uncle (Jason Lambert) gets a boisterous production under director Andrew Lamb, and designer Monique Stewart's colourful costumes and set are just as much fun. This is the best kind of theatre for young audiences, involving kids in the entertainment and suspense without talking down to them. JK

artists to watch

ANDREW LAMB

Who: Director of The Balloon Tree and Desperate Housepets.

Buzz: Lamb, associate director of Lorraine Kimsa Theatre for Young People's drama school, scored a hit recently with the teen-acted After Juliet. Now he does double directing duty, juggling a version of Phoebe Gilman's kids' fairy tale and a remount of the SummerWorks piece about the dramatic lives of our furry friends. Let's just hope one of the kittens doesn't start playing with the balloons, or we'll have explosions aplenty.

